POSTICAL READINGS.—A large number of the friends of J. Buchanan Read, as our readers are already aware, have desired that poetartist to give a public reading of selections from his own works, and he has consented to do so, naming this evening and Smith & Nixon's Hall as the time and place. The ability of Mr. R. is so well-known and his poems so universally popular, that we doubt not the audience to-night will completely fill the building.

He deserves, and and his second lecture will doubtless we hope he may receive, an excellent audi-

Boy DEOWNED.—A boy named James L. Gregg, whose parents reside on John-street, near Court, was drowned yesterday morning while playing in a skiff at the foot of Westernrow. In rowing about he lost his oar, and in reaching over to catch it lost his equilibrium and fell into the river. Some persons saw the accident, but before they could reader him any sesistance he had sunk to a liquid grave, and, although they made every effort to recover the body, their exertions were without success.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONESS. At their regular session yesterday morning, the County Commissioners passed orders amounting in the aggregate to $422 50; of which $302 50 were paid to E. Clark, for shingles used on the Harrison Bridge, and $120 to John Medary and Charles R. Smith, for transcript from the records of the Police Court, of the chain-gang commitments, to be used as evidence in the case of McLean vs. the County Commissioners. Thomas Mooney was discharged from jail, not having the means to pay the fines and costs charged against him. No other business was transacted.

THE LATE STABBING APPAIR ON SAUBAGE now.—Our readers probably remember the late stabbing affray on Sausage-row, in which a man named Jerry Sullivan was so severely stabbed in the region of the heart that it was thought he could not recover. David McCune, who was the perpetrator of this cutting, was yesterday morning before Judge Lowe, and held in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas to answer the charge of stabbing with intent to Sullivan is still at the Commercial Hospital and in a very critical condition, although his physicians think he will eventually recover. The wound is still dangerous, for there seems to be an occasional hemorrhage, which at any time may yet prove fatal. McCune was committed in default of bail.

POLICE COURT.-The business transacted resterday morning at the Police Court was almost without any interest. Twenty-seren cases were examined, but they were principally charges against persons who had imbibed too freely the previous day, and becoming disorderly from their extraordinary mentice excitances. tal excitement, were carried to the Station-house, that they might become same and sober, and receive a punishment for their offenses against the peace and dignity of the city.

The moral atmosphere of Cincinnati seems The moral atmosphere of Cincinnati seems to be improving, and growing purer every day. Indeed, it does not seem to us possible that men should be bad during such glorious weather we are having now, and yet murders are seldom committed on rainy days. But when the sun looks down upon its crazy child, the Earth, from soft and dreamy skies, like those which overhung our beautiful city during the week just past, goodness seems the more prevalent, and the nature of the man partakes of the qualities of the air he breathes. Still the paradox exists, and the thought that, had the night bean gloomy, lowering and wet, instead of bright and beautiful and clear, the late Plum-street "tragedy" would not have taken place, will make it appear not altogether unreasonable. The weather may have more to do, not only with the morals, together unreasonable. The weather ma but the manners of society, than most of us are aware; and in this we may find an evi-dence of the wisdom, manifested in making the external world so lovely, while the micro-coun has been created full of woe.

Bucelic Elopement and "Arcadian" Wedding.

Wedding.

As rivers run to seas, maidens run to marriage. After a certain age, somewhere between fourteen and eighteen, the female sex suffer from a kind of connubial fever, which sooner or later carries them off. Wed they will; wed they must; and if obstructions be thrown in their way, they only arrive the sooner at their object.

Of this disposition and temperament were a pair of elopers from Boone County, Ry., who arrived at the Spencer House a day or two since, breathless from their anxiety to be married. They were a very odd-looking pair, so undisciplined, so ardent, so entirely unsophisticated. The girl was pretty, and might have been charming, had she been reared in our metropolis; but her extremely rural manners and unique costume made her appear bizarre enough. As to her lover, he was a spectacle, with his good-natured, though extremely red face, his scattering, untrimmed looks, his semi-civilized garb, and his coarse boots, innocent of polish since the remote period of their creation.

"Look here, new, my friend," said he to Major Metcalf, "we do want to get married awful bad. We've come all the way from old Kentack to be married in this here tavern of yourn."

The Major smiled when the elegant Spencer

The Major smiled when the elegant Spencer was called a "tavern," but, amused by the fel-low's bluntness, told him he should be married as soon as a preacher could be procured.
"Be quick, stranger, now; don't lose any time, for I'm excited;" and here the Booneite threw off his coat and walked up and down the corridor with gigantic strides.

Meanwhile, "Jennie," the bride in prospect, was standing with her bonnet half off, leaning was standing with her bonnet half off, leaning against a column, and gasing with partially-open mouth at every one who passed her. She was awakened from her rapt astonishment by "Davie," who told her if she "wanted to get her things on, she'd better do it soon."

Thus reminded, "Jennie" ran up stairs to the first room she found open, and from a carpet-sack she had in her hand she took out a dress that had been originally white; tied a crimson scarf around her waist; several green and blue ribbons about her head; put on a pair of yellow satin slippers, and descended to the reception-room, radiant with smiles. "Davie" met her as she went down, and throwing his arms around her neck, gave her throwing his arms around her neck, gave her a kiss that made even the servants start, and horrified several high-bred loungers, attracted by the novelty of the scene.

The minister of the "Bethel" arrived a few The minister of the "Bethel" arrived a few minutes after "Jennie's" appearance in full dress, and performed the ceremony; "Davie" smoking a cigar and talking lovingly to his companion all the while. As soon as the ceremony was ended, the new-made husband caught up his bride in his arms, and waltzed around the office with her for nearly a minute, then set her down; paid his bill; shook hands with avery one near, the northers and bell, how. with every one near, the porters and bell-boys included; and with a loud hurrah dragged "Jennie" down the stair-way into a back, and disappeared, entirely insane, as was evident, on the subject of marriage.

Meeting of the National Republican

The National Republican Association met last night for the purpose of discussing the resolutions offered one week ago by Mr. Armstrong. After some debate, and several ineffectual attempts to table the subject, Mr. Charles R. Fosdick offered the following substitute, which, with the original resolutions, were referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Jordan, Fosdick, Armstrong, Fisher and Elliott:

and Elliott:
WHEREAR, The so-called Democratic press, both in this city and elsewhere, are endeavor-ing, by misrepresentation of facts and gross falseheeds, to direct public attention from the iniquitous conduct of the present Adminis-tration, and to implicate the Republican party tration, and te implicate the Republican party in the deplorable events that have recently occurred at Harper's Ferry, therefore, Resolved, That the Democratic party are morally guilty of the present outbreak, as the legitimate fruit of the outrages perpetrated and sanctioned by them on the freemen of Kansas. Resolved, That while the Republican party is and ever has been inflexibly opposed to the aggression of the slave power, whether disguised under the name of Democracy, or otherwise, we do most unequivocally condemn and repudiate any interference with slavery in the States where it exists.

States where it exists.

Resolved, That we deprecate any appeal to violence as derogatory to the dignity of American citizens, believing that in the ballot-box there is a peaceful and legal remedy for all political evils.

Resolved, That we regard the recent move-ments for the revival of the African slave trade with abhorrence and detestation, condemn the connivance of the General Government therewith, and hold the same to be execrable and in violation of every sentiment of Christianity and civilization.

Resolved, That we repudiate as infamous the principles in the Dred Scott decision, and bethat neither -the constitution nor the spirit of the General Government, confer any power on Congress or a Territorial Legislature to give legal existence, or in any way sanction the institution of slavery in any Territory of the United States.

Resolved, That proclaiming our determination to respect the constitutional obligations imposed upon the States by the Federal Compact and maintaining the union of the States and the liberties of the people, we demand the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Act of 1850, spirit of our Government—contrary to the plainest duties of humanity and justice, and abhorrent to the moral sense of the civilized world. Resolved, That we claim for all citizens heseled, that we claim for all citizens, both native and naturalized, the liberty of conscience, equality of rights and the free exercise of suffrage; that we are in favor of whatever legislative and administrative reform necessary to protect these rights, and guard against their infringement or abuse, and oppose any abridgment whatever of the rights of naturalization now secured, by law, to emigrants, and all discrimination between native and naturalized citizens.

native and naturalized citizens. Resolved, That the Administration of the General Government, under the present Democratic rule, has been unequaled for extravagance and faithlessness to the interests of numenity and freedom, and false to the Constitution and laws of the community.

Resolved, That having full assurance of the justice and ultimate triumph of these princi-ples, and in fixed determination to adhere to them through all opposition, we cordially in-vite all men to unite with us in an earnest effort to restore our Government to its original

SERENADE BY MENTER'S BAND .- This I ing, as we were about putting a period to the last page of manuscript we expected to write for the present issue of our paper, we were sur-prised by hearing the clear tones of a cornet, prised by hearing the clear tones of a cornet, accompanied by several sax-horns, in front of our office. Menter's Band was complimenting us with a serenade, and their delicious music, rising on the stillness of the hour, was a delightful finale to our week's employment. Menter is a prince of cornet-players, and his notes this morning were many of them soft and sweet as those of a flute. For his kindness we thank him, and also for the pleasant thoughts thank him, and also for the pleasant thoughts the serenade suggested.

PRIORITY OF JUDGMENTS.—Vance and others vs. Keck & Hubbard. It was held in this case in which there was a controversy among adgment creditors in relation to the priority in which their claims were to be paid out of a fund brought in for distribution—that under the statute of francis a deed made to hinder and defraud creditors was of no effect—that the creditors need pay no regard to it—but might proceed and obtain his indigment. To say it had some effect so as to require the parties to go into a Court of Chancery to set it aside was contradictory to the terms of the statute. A creditor taking this law without reference to any decision might treat such a conveyance to be absolutely void as to him; and if it is utterly void as against him he has a lien on the property by virtue of his judgment alone—the execution gives him no new lien, but is merely a dagle step in advance toward obtaining satisfaction. It follows that the judgments obtained against these defondants, and the attachments must be provided for in the order of time in which they occurthose in the same term will be provided for the teams term will be provided for the same term will be provided SUPERIOR COURT.

Litigation has been pending in the matter since. 1840. It was now held by Judas Gholson that the road was legally established, and complainants were perpetually enjoined from disturbing the same. As to Harrison-street, the bill was dispensed without prejudice.

COVINGTON NEWS.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE UNFORTUN-ATE?—Father Herod, the keeper of the city poor-house, has the reputation, everywhere, of feeding those under his charge on a much higher diet than is usual in such institutions, and the result is, that all the paupers from Pittsburg to St. Louis are anxious to place themselves under his charge. Scarcely a day elapses in which there are not one or more nonresidents who apply for relief from our city authorities. What is to be done? Temporary reliaf, at least, must be given, for no one must be allowed to starvo. This causes a heavy tax upon our citisens, which they ought not, but are of necessity, compelled to pay. But there is one class of non-resident paupers to which we wish to call special attention. It consists of females who have no settled home, but reside in the city for a short time and then go to the country as "help," where they become the victims of misplaced confidence, and are turned loose upon the world homeless and friendless. loose upon the world homeless and friendless. The country will not support them; they have not gained a residence there; they fall back upon the city, and it is obliged to receive them or permit them to starve or steal. Several of this class are now in our poor-house, and another is now humbly petitioning for admittance. Shall she be rejected? Let the decision be what it may, a hardship is involved. It is not so much the expense of a solitary individual. so much the expense of a solitary individual that is involved, but it establishes a precedence which may be of incalculable mischief.

VAGRANTS .- There are a number of persons in our city who have no other home than the Jail, and no sooner are they turned out than they contrive to be sent back. Four of this class, Mary Bowman, Mary Smith, Jenny MoIntyre and Bridget McMahan, were sent up a few days since by Mayor Foley for the period of twenty days. It is indeed la-mentable that no means can be found by which these frail creatures can be reformed which these frail creatures can be reformed. The Jail will not do it, and each incarceration but adds to their degradation. A thorough change in our criminal code is needed, a change that will unite reformation with discipline. This subject ought to occupy the serious attention of our legislators. The object to be gained is of a magnitude which ought to commend itself to the philanthrought avaryables. pist everywhere. It involves no less than the ultimate destiny of thousands of our race, male as well as female. The first false step is not necessarily the fatal one, and thou-sands who have indulged in dissipation and vice for years, might be reclaimed by proper means. A career of vice is more frequently the result of circumstances than free will; and never is humanity so far sunk in depray ity but it has its hours of repentance, which, if advoitly seized, could be made to work a horough reformation.

SLAVE INSURENCTION-EXCITEMENT IN THE SLAVE INSURENCE OF A STATE OF THE STATE OF T whole interior of the State, was imminent, and that measures had been taken to ferret out and punish the leaders in the plot. Believing it to be a canard, we took no notice of it; but yesterday we saw some of our old friends from that section, who not only verified the statement of the anonymous writer, but also say the plot is supposed to be even more extensive than at first represented. Public meetings have been held and various measures adopted, which are deemed necessary for the public safety. The excitement is intense, and whether founded on a reality or not, will have the effect to increase the already rapid exodus of the black population toward the guif States. of the black population toward the gulf States.

ACTIVITY IN THE PORK TRADE. -- We notice droves of hogs are constantly passing through our streets en route to Gineinnati, where they find ready purchasers. By the Assessor's report for 1859, it appears that the number of hogs in the State is nearly two hundred thousand greater than the prayious was misand greater than the previous year. This has its effect upon the trade, and as the pork business promises to be brisk during the coming winter, packers are making arrangements accordingly.

WILLIAMS'S COVINGTON DIRECTORY .- Canvassers are visiting every house for the pur-pose of gathering the necessary material for a complete directory of this city and Newport, to be published in connection with that of Cin-cinnati. This is greatly needed; the lack of one having long been severely felt by our business men generally. The reputation of the publishers is a sufficient guarantee for the racter of the work.

NEWPORT NEWS.

THE DIGNITY OF THE CITY TO BE VINDICATED. Professor Edwards and Oliver W. Root are to be tried this morning, before 'Squire Payne, for violating the peace and dignity of the city of Newport.

THE NEW JAIL.—The walls of this institufirst story. The iron lattice of the windows are securely fastened, and the whole structure promises to be nest and substantial.

AN ABUSIVE SPOURE RUNS AWAY FROM JUSrics. - William Krauch, underrating the solemnity of the nuptual vows, took occasion, night before last, to soverely chastise his frau, for which offense a warrant for his arrest was sworn out before 'Squire Payne. He, however, has deemed it prudent to avoid the officer, who, he says, has no right to meddle with him or his domestic affairs.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A fatal accident oc-oursed day before yesterday to a little boy named George, son of E. J. Hooper. The father and son were in the woods hunting, and while the former was in the act of cutting down a tree, the little boy posted himself at a short distance off. The boy was unable to escape the tree when it fell, and a limb struck him with such violence that he died yesterday from the effects of the blow. He was about thirteen years of age, and an amiable lad. His loss will be severely falt, not only by his parents but by all who knew him; for among them all he was a great favorite.

AMUSEMENTS.

Wood's Theater—Mr. Asderson's Benefit.
This theater was crowded last evening on the occasion of Miss Agnes Elleveurity's benefit, and the performances appeared to give the highly intelligent and energy and the performance appeared to give the highly intelligent and energy and the performance appeared to give the highly intelligent and energy and "Affect being in Moser, were, we thought, tame and monotonous, but it was generally good, though far inferior to his tragic impersonations, Miss, Elleworthy's "Clara Douglass" and "Katherine" was very creditable; being easy, graceful and correct, though often less impassioned than they should have been, in our judgment.

This evening, the occasion of Mr. A.'s benefit, is positively the last night of his engagement, when he will represent "Damon" in Damon And Pyrrins, and "Felix" in The Wonder, Miss Ellsworthy appearing in the comedy as "Violants." The distinguished artist deserves, and will have, without doubt, a full and appreciating house.

NATIONAL THEATER—JULIA DWAY—The WOOD'S THEATER-MR. ANDERSON'S BENEFIT.

NATIONAL THEATER-JULIA DEAN,-The benefit of Julia Dean was what is somewhat inelegantly termed, a "bumper;" "old Drury" being crowded with a fashionable and cultivated andience. The fair beneficiare appeared in two of her vary best parts—"Madelaine" and "Constance," in one most-coning many an eye, and in the other wreathing many a lip in smiles.

ening many an eye, and in the other wreathing many a lip in smiles.

We cannot think this lady plays generally with as much fireand spirit as she was wont; but in Knowlea's comedy, which, by the by, we never much liked, she was all herself. There was no mistaking her look, her laugh, her tone, her jeature; she was the "sweet Julia Dean" of a few years ago, and her playing brought the departed lustrum to mind again.

We can not refrain from mentioning here the excellent personation of "Lydia," by Mrs. Vanderen. It was natural, sympathetic and highly creditable we see a future of prima for this deserving artist.

This evening Julia Dean performs LCCREYIA BORGIA, one of her best roles, in Hugo's Italian horror.

THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT .- The concert a THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT.—The concert at Smith & Nixon's Hall last night by Signor Corradi Colliers was well attended, and the audience, which was quite fashionable, seemed highly delighted. Mr. C. sang with his older effectiveness, and added many a laurel to those he has already won.

His sweet-eyed daughter, Berths, has improved immensely since we heard her last, and her voice has attained a fine degree of cultivation. With such a tencher as her father, and such taste and talent as she possesses, it will be somewhat strange if a few years do not make her a great singer.

The remainder of the performers were vehemently applanded, and the concert was a success in every particular.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT NORTH VERNON-LOSS THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS.—Quite a destructive fire broke out yesterday morning at North

Vernon, Indians, which entirely consumed the engine-house belonging to the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, and some other contigious buildings. The fire was, it is said, the work of an incendiary, and the loss will reach three thousand dollars. will reach three thousand dollars.

Monetary and Commercial.

The payments of yesterday were, as we have said they would be, quite large, and Monetary af-fairs were active. The applications for Loans were numerous at the Discount-houses, and a fair amount of borrowers were in the street. The Paper maturing was generally met, the only protests being of parties rithout standing or credit. The tone of the Money market is healthy and daily improving, and, while our merchants and manufactures still complain of a certain scarcity of Currency now and then, the supply is increasing. and the Bankers' deposits are gradually augmenting. For Eastern Exchange yesterday there was little demand acrossible counter, and the boying rate was lower than the day before, not being generally over $5 prom. Dealers were steady, however, selling at $5. The demand for Gold is nearly over from the Banks, and the daily inquiry is very slight. The Brokors still give $5 for Goin and sell at about 45c, prem. The feeling in Flour was fettill firm, yesterday, at $4.75@4.50, but holders saked an advance of $6000 per barrel, which was not met. Whisky was $6000 per barrel, which was not met. Whisky was $6000 per barrel, which was not met. Whisky was $6000 per barrel, which was not met. A small lot of new Sugar and Molasses were received, but no change occurred in prices. All kinds of Grain but Barley were firm. The continued warm weather prevents any transactions in Hogs, and the market is heavy, with no reference to operations.

The receipts of Produce and Hogs during the twenty-four hours ending yesterday noon were as follows: and the Bankers' deposits are gradually augmenting

lows:

Thursday's New York Herald says of Wednesday There is very little business on the Stock Exchange, though prices are rather higher to-day. At the first board the market, though not active, advanced a fraction; between the boards a further advance was caused by the bids of the street operators; in the atternoon prices were generally wall maintained and caused by the bids of the street operators; in the atternoon prices were generally well maintained, and the market closed figur. The commission brokers continue to assert that they have no orders to buy from outside, and that the advance in Stocks is the work of street speculators exclusively. Against this it is but just to say that the business of the Western roads is leading to some quiet purchase of low prices Stocks by parties who have faith in the recovery of that section.

There is no change in money to report. A very few choice names, indersed, at 60,690 days, go at 5%; first-class short paper generally at 6; long paper, indorsed, first-class, and very choice single names, lower grades, at 10,618, according to standing, &c. Notwithstanding the cheapness of money, small houses, not generally known, find as much difficulty as they ever did in obtaining discounts. Confidence is reviving with a slowness which surprises people.

There is nothing doing in foreign exchange to-day. The prospect is that the market will not open with much attength for the Saturday's steamers.

The coinage of the Philadelphia Mint in October was $316,661.

was $346,661.

As compared with the first week of January, 1859, the loans of the banks of New York, Boston, Philipdelphia and New Orleans have decreased, according to the last statements, in round numbers, $9,000,000, the specie $14,000,000, and the deposits $31,500,000 of debts, and have loat only $14,000,000 of specie in so doing. The aggregate circulation shows a change of only $200,000.

CINCINNATI MARKET-NOVEMBER 3. FLOUR—The firm feeling continues in the market, and at $4 75@4 80 there are buyers of good superfine, but it is held at $4 80@4 90. The sales were 900 bris. extra at $4 80@5 15. 1,833 bris, were received the last twenty-four hours.
